Robert Robison, Chicago business executive, one of those present at the meeting of Executives Club:

"Well, I still have no confidence in his defense of Watergate. Every time you get near the specifics, the President backs away. If he had come out forthrightly in the beginning, he'd ge all right. But everything has to be dragged out of him and he's butchering the English language trying to explain it."

NYTimes, 16 Mar 74, Seth S. King